

Foundations in Directive Communication Psychology

Mastering the dynamics of cooperative groups

As the base program for mastering soft skills across all organisational disciplines, this program sets the foundation to fully expand on, and benefit from the ½ day DC application modules.

As a leader or trainer, the tools and technology you will learn at the Foundations in Directive Communication (DC) course will support and enhance all other people development and transfer of knowledge you impart.

This psychology based DC system have been in making for the past 12 years. Gathering a selected group of trainers, industry leaders, and psychologists we have been consistently improving the program to yield maximum results and implementation in the shortest amount of time. The DC methodology assures that you not only get the extraordinary results in your training, workforces enhancement, or organizational cooperation, but most importantly, that the RESULTS last.

When we just learn skills, or get external motivation, we eventually go back to the way it was (maybe with a few more distinctions, but still back to the same old ways). This program addresses that issue!

As a base for the DC Modular system companies Save 38% of their training budget and get 3 times more Training ROI with measurable improvement, and get a monthly analysis for each participant to track employee progress.

This is the ONLY self replicating, long lasting, immediately implementable training system with instantly visible Organisational Development applications.

The Foundations 3 day program takes the essence of full scope of Directive Communication psychology and its applications and condenses it into the most impactful 3 days you will have ever experienced. In fact, we are so confident that participants of this 3 day seminar event will find enough value to make a difference in their training, their teams, their organization and themselves, that if you don't feel you can apply what you have learned in this program to immediately improve your abilities to interact with the people around you, we will give you 100% of your money back!!
